BRIDLEWOOD NEWS

Bridlewood Wins Agency of the Year

On April 23, 2015 in Santa Ana CA, at an insurance industry award ceremony, the coveted “United Healthcare 2015 Agency of the Year” was presented to Bridlewood Insurance Services. This meteoric skyrocket to the top of the Medicare insurance world is no accident. With nearly 50 agents all over San Diego, Bridlewood Insurance has established itself as the leading independent insurance company for seniors, to help navigate the maze of Medicare Insurance options. Bridlewood agents have two golden rules to follow:

- 1. Always do the right thing for the customer.
- 2. Don’t ever forget rule number one!

All Bridlewood agents are hand-picked and trained to make sure that when it comes to Medicare Insurance, they are really the best at what they do, which is finding the absolute best solution for the senior’s Medicare Insurance needs.

“There is an incredibly huge demand for our services,” says Bridlewood Insurance President, Jeff Wetzel. “Medicare Insurance can be overwhelming and complicated, and when people learn they can have a personal Bridlewood agent help and advise them for no additional cost, well, that’s a win for everyone.”

Your life. Your legacy.

Planning now will provide peace of mind – for you and for those you love.

Losing a loved one is one of life’s most stressful events. Prearranging your funeral eases the stress and guesswork for your family and ensures that your final wishes are honored.

We plan for important life events, such as weddings, major purchases, college education for our children and retirement.

We insure ourselves against things that may never happen, including vehicle accidents, personal injury and medical emergencies.

Doesn't it make sense to plan for the inevitable?

Why not start planning today?
It takes just four simple steps.

Reflect. How do you want to be remembered?

Record. Document your wishes.

Support. Select the funding option that works best for you.

Share. Let your loved ones know where your documents are located.

May Funnies (Please don't read if you're easily offended)

Annual Fishing Trip

Four guys have been going on the same fishing trip for many years.

A few days before the group's annual departure date, John's wife puts her foot down and tells him he isn't going. John's fishing buddies are very upset that he can't go, but what can they do? Two days later the three get to the camping site to find John sitting there with his tent set up, firewood gathered and dinner cooking on the fire, drinking a cold beer.

"Heck John, how long you been here, and how did you talk your missus into letting you go?"

"Well, I've been here since last night. Yesterday evening, I was sitting in my recliner when my wife came up behind me, put her hands over my eyes, and asked, 'Guess who?'" I pulled her hands off, and there she was, wearing a nightie. She took my hand and pulled me into the bedroom, where she'd lit candles and put rose petals all over the place. Well, she's been reading '50 Shades of Grey'...

On the bed she had handcuffs, and ropes! She told me to tie her up and cuff her to the bed, so I did. And then she said, 'Do whatever you want.'So, boys, here I am!

Three Birds on a Wire

A teacher was helping her third-grade students with a math problem. After choosing a student in particular, she recites the following story: "Billy, there are three birds sitting on a telephone wire. A man with a gun shoots one of the birds. How many birds are left on the wire?" Billy pauses. "None," he replied thoughtfully.

"No, no, no. Lets try again, maybe you didn't hear me correctly." the teacher says patiently. She holds up three fingers. "There are three birds sitting on a wire. A man with a gun shoots one," she puts down one finger, "how many birds are left on the wire?"

"None," Billy says with authority.

The teacher sighs. "Tell me how you came up with that?" "It's simple," says Billy, "after the man shot the one bird, the noise from the gun scared the other two away."

"Well," she says, "that's not technically correct, but I like the way you think."

"Thanks," chimes Billy, "now let me ask you a question." "okay," the teacher said guardedly. "There are three women sitting on a bench eating popsicles. One women is licking the popsicle, one women is biting the popsicle and one is sucking the popsicle. Which one is married?" Billy asked innocently.

The teacher looked at the angelic face and writhed in agony, turning three shades of red. "C'mon," Billy said impatiently, "which one is it, the one licking the popsicle, the one biting it, or the one sucking it? Which one is married?"

"Well, uh," she gulped and in a barely audible whisper replied, "the one who's sucking?"

"Naw," he says with a surprise, "the one with the wedding ring. But I like the way you think."

Thinking Outside the Box

You are driving along in your car on a wild, stormy night. You pass by a bus stop, and you see three people waiting for the bus:

1. An old lady who looks as if she is about to die.
2. An old friend who once saved your life.
3. The perfect man (or) woman you have been dreaming about.

Which one would you choose to offer a ride to, knowing that there could be only one passenger in your car? Think, before you continue reading. This is a moral/ethical dilemma that was once actually used as part of a job application. You could pick up the old lady, because she is going to die, and thus you should save her first; or you could take the old friend because he once saved your life, and this would be the perfect chance to pay him back. However, you may never be able to find your perfect dream lover again. The answer is below.

Give Bridlewood Insurance 5 Stars on Yelp

Next to google, Yelp is probably the most important site to a small business. People will read the reviews of other customers experience and determine right then and there if that is someone they want to do business with. If you have had a positive experience with Bridlewood Insurance or one of it's 50 agents, and want to share your experience, go to Yelp.com and search Bridlewood Insurance.

Are you smarter than a 5th grader answers:

1.C 2.A 3.A 4.B 5.C 6.B 7.B 8.A 9.C 10.C

Think outside the box answer:

The simple answer is: "You could give the car keys to the old friend, and let him take the lady to the hospital. You would stay behind and wait for the bus with the woman or man of your dreams."

Personal Notes: Busy Year

Wow, you look up and 1/3 of 2015 is already gone. The original plan was to enjoy the last few months, as the last of our four children finish high school. For years, every weekend was spent running to this soccer game, or basketball tournament or that track event. I have an entire wall in my garage filled with trophies the kids earned over the years. I call it my wall of fame. There are countless memories on that wall. Some of my proudest moments came when I coached my daughters basketball teams to 3 consecutive city championships. I didn't even want to be coach, since I never played the game of basketball as a kid, I simply didn't want to embarrass myself and my daughter. But during a parent meeting, when they needed someone's dad to step up, my daughter raised her hand and said, "my dad will do it". I bought some "how to coach basketball books" and watched YouTube videos, put together a practice schedule, bought a whistle, and went out and acted like I knew what I was doing. Today the pictures of me handing out the championship trophies now hang on the wall. Some of the kids on those teams never won a team championship before or have after. For years, I would be approached by some of the girls on those teams and thanked for some really great times we had together. Now that the next chapter of my life is about to begin, maybe one day the kids will ask me to coach my grandkid's teams. Or at least, invite me to watch.
